

BOSTWICK
LABORATORIES®

March 15, 2017

Dear Colleague,

Thank you for your continued support of Bostwick Laboratories. We are sending you this letter to let you know about some exciting news regarding the Company. Change is soon coming to our group that should make us stronger and more responsive to your needs. Please be reassured that during this few-month transition, it will be business as usual for us—that is our absolute commitment to you and your patients.

In 2011, Bostwick Laboratories was sold to a private equity firm in New York. Now, after almost 6 years, that group will be selling us to another group (name to be disclosed in the future). Similar to the previous sale, we anticipate that this change will reinvigorate us with new resources and new partners to ensure future success. Specifically, Bostwick Laboratories has entered into an agreement to sell its assets, including our important relationships with customers such as you, through a bankruptcy proceeding. This process was successfully employed by General Motors, Continental Airlines, and thousands of other groups to allow seamless provision of services during restructuring.

Thank you again for your support of Bostwick Laboratories. Our team anticipates business as usual during this time, and will do our utmost to ensure delivery of the premium service and rapid turn-around time for which we are known. If you have any questions or concerns, please contact us at 1-877-865-3262.

With best personal regards,

David G. Bostwick MD, MBA
